S. A. Cook Of Neenah May Run For United States Senatorship In 1909.

PLAN TO MAKE ESCH GOVERNOR

Possibility That Lenroot Will Seek Seat In House, And Not Try Again In Race For Stephenson's Place.

(EXCERPT TO THE GAZETTE.)
(Via Long Distance Phone.)
Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 19.—The Evening Wisconsin today will say that reports have been in circulation for several days that there is a real reined organization started to land Congressman John Esch of La Crosse in the governor's chair in 1909. Some of the rumors couple his name with that of S. A. Cook of Neenah, who may be a candidate for the office of United States senator. Two other prospective candidates for the campaign of 1909 are also being discussed: for governor, James O. Davidson; and for United States senator, W. O. Connor of Marshfield; for governor, Francis E. Melvoin, district attorney of Milwaukee, and for United States senator, L. L. Lenroot of Superior.Meeting of the Class Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 19.—There will be a meeting of the political class in Milwaukee during state fair week, says the article, "when it is expected that many plans which have been formed hitherto will be crystallized and made public. It is stated with good authority that nominations of at least two candidates for United States senator will be expected then. W. D. Connor and W. H. Hatten of New London, Mr. Hatten practically admitted his candidacy at the conclusion of the senatorial committee in Madison at the last session.

Connor Will Try for Senate
It is stated that a Milwaukee politician has a letter from Madison saying positively that Governor David Connor will be a candidate for reelection and that Lieutenant Governor Connor will try for the senate. It is taken for granted that the other state officers except Mr. Connor will be candidates for reelection. In the event of the candidacy of Congressman Esch for governor Speaker Elmer may be a candidate for congressman from the Seventh district.Lenroot, La Follette's Man
Some of the friends of Lenroot say that he would prefer the nomination of congressman from Eleventh district to the uncertainty of running for United States senator. Others say that Mr. Stephenson will not be satisfied with one term in the senate, it has been predicted that Mr. Connor will be an aspirant to a member of the national republican committee to succeed J. W. Babcock.ILLUSTRIOUS FACES

Tragedy in Miniature

"And then the heart-broken, despairing girl fled from the house—fled down the street—on the suburb—out into the country lying bathed in the moonlight. She made straight for the precipice, and with a sob in her throat and a prayer on her lips she took the awful plunge." No such scene as this is depicted in the funny comedy, "The Irish Pavement," which comes to town in the near future. The farce was not written in an attempt to elevate the stage, but is merely an effort to drive away the blues, and the management wonder if "the doctor who gets out of patients is apt to lose his temper."

TOOK A PRIVATE TEAM BY MISTAKE

Livery Neglected to Fill Leyden Man's Order but Nell Mahoney's Turnout Was Hitched Near Depot.

Had Janesville possessed an Anti-Horse Tack society there would have been a great commotion among the brethren Saturday evening. A Leyden man, whose name cannot be ascertained, telephoned to the C. W. Kemmerer & Co. livery to have a team waiting for him at the North-Western depot. The order was forgotten but Nell Mahoney happened to hitch a span of horses in the exact spot where other rigs had been left for the Leyden man on previous occasions. He got off his train and without difficulty unlatched the hags and drove away. Mr. Mahoney returned presently and was astounded to find the turnup gone. When told that a stranger had appropriated the outfit he naturally concluded that one of the boldst rascals in the recent history of the city had been committed. After several hours Mr. Mahoney copied the supposed thief driving unmercifully on one of the business thoroughfares. It did not take him long to jump aboard the carriage and, in indignant tones demand an explanation. The Leyden man was astounded—not pleased, the story did not convince Mr. Mahoney until after both had driven to the police station and the Leyden man's statements had been confirmed by the Kemmerer livery employees.

Mass and Elaborate Service, Lasting

Hour and a Half, at St. Mary's Church.

Probably the strangest and most elaborate wedding ceremony ever held in Janesville and one that may never be excelled in length or detail occurred at St. Mary's Roman Catholic church this morning when two natives of Syria were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by an Assyrian priest brought here from Chicago especially for the occasion. Three hundred people witnessed the service, the like of which they never saw before and may never see again. A nuptial mass was said in Assyrian and then followed the marriage. This is according to eastern Catholic ritual, while according to the Roman rite the marriage is solemnized and then mass celebrated.

WEDDING MUSIC

Miss Maud Himsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Himsey of 121 Glen street, was the bride and Michael Melton of New London, Wisconsin, was the groom. They were attended by Miss Ethel Safady and George Himsey, a brother of the bride, both of this city, Rev. Seraphim R. Rounse, who was born, reared and educated in Syria, was here from Chicago to officiate. In the celebration of mass he was assisted by the bridegroom and in the performance of the marriage by Allo Ruzou of Janesville. The entire service, unintelligible to all but the twenty-seven Assyrians in the audience, proved very interesting. The weird music, chanted by the priest and his assistant and played on the organ by Prof. W. T. Thiele, was extraordinary. The wedding service included the betrothal with one ring, the marriage with two rings, the blessing of the union with wreaths of flowers, the binding of the knot by the drinking of wine and the distribution of one hundred and fifty candies.

FEAST OF ORIENTAL DELICACIES

At the close of the long ceremony the bridal party marched down the aisle of the church and repaired to the Himsey residence. There a big feast of oriental delicacies was served to fifty Syrians, some of whom came here from New London for the event. There was also music by an Assyrian orchestra and Assyrian songs were rendered. At noon Mr. and Mrs. Melton departed for their home in New London, where the groom is employed in a furniture factory. His wife had become well known since her residence in Janesville and she is universally liked and respected. The well wishes of not only their relatives and native friends but many Americans go with them.

A year ago today Oklahoma had a larger population than any other state in the Union at the time of its admission, and a population larger than any except Virginia, of the original thirteen when they came together to form a more perfect Union.

But with all this Oklahoma is sadly behind most of her eastern sisters. For instance, in Wisconsin BEN HUR FLOUR is for sale in every first class grocery store, whereas the Oklahoma matron cannot obtain this excellent flour at any price.

Many inquiries are reaching the office of State Game Warden Stone regarding the open season for the hunting of prairie chickens and other upland birds. The last legislature considerably changes this section of the game laws, cutting down the number of counties in which the class of game may be hunted and changing the open season to later in the year. This latter change is not to the convenience of the hunters so much as for the advantage of the game, for it will allow the young time to be reared and will prevent destruction of whole flocks of the game.

The open season for woodcock, partridge, plover and snipe is the months of September, October and November.

In a number of counties the hunting of prairie chickens is permitted during the first fifteen days of October. In all other counties of the state the hunting or killing of prairie chicken, prairie hen or grouse or any variety is absolutely prohibited all the year round until the first of September, 1915. The counties in which prairie chicken may be hunted during the first fifteen days of October are Buffalo, Chippewa, Clark, Crawford, Dodge, Grant, Eau Claire, Iowa, Jackson, Juneau, La Crosse, Marquette, Monroe, Pepin, Polk, Portage, Richland, Rusk, Sawyer, St. Croix, Vernon, Washburn, Waushara and Wood.

The killing of any Mongolian, Chinese or English pheasant or quail is absolutely prohibited by the law until October 1, 1915.

The penalty for violation of any feature of this law is a fine of $25 to $50 or jail sentence of 20 to 60 days.

COMET DANIEL MAY BE SEEN MORNINGS

Appears in the Early Morning in the Eastern Sky—Has a Long Tail.

Janesville people who get up early can see the great comet Daniel, which first came into prominence two months ago. It has now grown steadily in brightness until now it is plainly visible to the naked eye in the eastern sky a little to the north about halfway between the horizon and the zenith, in the early morning, about 3:30 o'clock.

The head of the comet is about as bright as a second-magnitude star, and the tail is visible to a length of twenty degrees. Those who do not live in the glare of electric lights will have no difficulty in seeing at least the head and probably also a section of the tail.

It will be readily seen that the head is unlike a star in that it is hazy in appearance. At present the comet is on the northern border of the constellation of Orion, during the next fortnight it will be passing eastward through the southern part of Gemini. The comet should reach the maximum brightness for terrestrial observers in the latter part of August.

Photographs of the comet record the tail to a length of 19 to 20 degrees and show that the tail of one night bears little resemblance to that of the preceding night. Whether it came or whether it will go as the astronomers cannot tell for like other comets that have appeared in the past, and still others that will come, it is one of those inexplicable things that are past finding out. This particular comet will soon draw it toward the sun and finally disappear and will probably never be known again to the astronomers of this sphere.

In the old times comets were looked upon as omens of evil and forebodings of disaster but nowadays they are but incidents celestial, of no particular significance or interest beyond the novelty of their appearance and the curiosity which their visitations excite.

Green Bay Man Invents Telephone Device Which May Be Used by Wisconsin Company Here.

A nonsensical toll box is the latest invention for improvement of the telephone service and it will probably be installed for use in this city when adopted by the Wisconsin Telephone Co., which is said to be negotiating for rights. The box is not a complicated affair but it is impossible to cheat the machine. If a slug is dropped on one side while a nickel will pass down through and light the small light at the central office. If central is unable to get the party asked for the nickel is returned to the calling counterfeiter as well as slugs. Counterfeiter can well afford to pay a great money saver for the phone companies who are said to lose many dollars by the use of slugs in the toll boxes.

You can't always turn a catastrophe into an incident, but you can usually prevent an incident from growing into a catastrophe—by heroic use of the want ads. A half hour's reading of the want ads. may pay you a higher wage for your time than you have ever earned in your life.

THE REDATORS

Whether the Government made a mistake in pushing the Standard Oil corporation due to the extreme limit or not will remain a question for fu ture generations to solve. It is cer tainly, however, that it did make a mis take when it promised the Alton rail road with an immunity bath for the disclosures it made which brought about the conviction of the great oil trust. It is pretty small bushes for a great government to pay a premium on telltale and does not teach the rising generation a good lesson. If the Standard Oil corporation is guilty of a crime in accepting a rebate from the Alton road the Alton road is guilty of a crime in giving it. The rail road should not be shown any clout because of a pretrial agreement with the government and while the fine imposed on the great trust is ex cessive punishment should be meted out to its partner in crime if it is guilty.

THE STRIKE

The business world is still strug gling with the strike problem. The telegraphers have not yet exhausted their money but soon will be bro ken and if the rest of the labor world does not come to their assistance they will have trouble to keep the wolf from the door. No one as yet can fully explain the strike and its causes.

Everyone can tell of its effect. The two telegraph companies, the Western Union and the Postal, are making a gallant fight for their side of the question and will doubtless win out in the end. Meanwhile the business world waits the end of hostilities and the resumption of business on the old firm basis. Too much prosperity always brings about labor conditions which annoy the public.

TAFT THE CHOICE

Straw votes which foretell which way the political wind is blowing, point to the selection of Taft as the popular candidate for President to succeed Roosevelt. Taft has appar ently the call from the middle west states and the straw ballot. In the Tribune shows clearly that he is the popular candidate. In Indianapolis he tonight Taft will fire his opening campaign gun. Whether it is loaded with shot and shell or whether it is merely an empty blast to announce his coming remains to be seen.

Whatever way it is Taft will be watched closely from this time on.

THE STRIKE

The question of whether the strike or the strike-breakers deserve the credit would not be hard to solve.

The strike-breakers who seek an hon est living would be favored by the general public.

THE STRIKE

Where is Beloit's gifted police de partment when it lets a gang of silk robbers loot a store and get away and then have to come to Janesville officers to get a tip on the location and identity of the thieves?

That Escanaba river trip of Senator

Stephenson may go down into his memory as a political gathering or as merely a fishing trip. Time will tell, but the combination of guests was peculiar to say the least.

If Janesville would go ahead and show the rest of the county what it was to have good city roads there might be more interest shown in the rural communities as to their thoroughfares.

The question as to who will be the next sheriff is already bubbling up. Just as if Sheriff Fisher has not been doing his duty for the past eight months.

Janesville feels the boom coming. The approaching wind denotes a storm of some kind and Janesville is ready for the biggest kind of a blow.

Now the tobacco crop is ruined. Soon reports will come in of its flourishing condition. The same was true last spring of the Kansas wheat crop.

There is still the question of what Roosevelt is going to do to be considered when it comes to talking of presidential possibilities.

The western mining camp will flourish and will continue to increase in population as long as the discovery of gold continues.

The supply is always governed by the demand. An oversupply of any commodity always means a break in prices.

The Gazette has been receiving the Associated Press reports without a break despite the telegraphers' strike.

Milwaukee's Boy Mayor now proposes to enter the state political arena. Having governed the Crown City he seeks to dominate the state.

The state of Texas would let the world know what a good state the old Lone Star is and have organized a state booming organization.

The question of street sprinkling for the next ten hours has been settled by old Jupiter Pluvius himself.

Now is the time the football scores are being considered and athletes are preparing for the fall campaign.

PRESS COMMENT

Unlikely Some Others

Exchange: Taft doesn't write. He goes and sees for himself.

Whose Head Next?

Chicago Tribune: Announcement is made that the empress dowager of China is "about to retire." The name of the person whom she is going to retire is not given.

W. W. Astor's Extreme Precaution

Milwaukee Journal: William Waldorf Astor has a grandson, but he managed to have it born in England, so that it would not have to take its root with American soil.

Sure Proof of Mental Vigor

Omaha Bee: That patient in the Michigan Insane asylum who announced the keeper for giving him a volume of Alfred Austin's poems to read ought to be discharged as cured.

Husbands—Excess Baggage

Milwaukee Sentinel: Another swift jolt for more men. A Pennsylvania woman invited her son to a "white elephant party," and each assumed that the invitation included her husband.

Vernacular at the Bier

Green Bay Gazette: A Chicago woman paid a compliment to her deceased husband by exclaiming, as she mourned over his bier, "He was a good old scoundrel." The fact that she was from Chicago explains it.

Solution of Dreadful Problem

Exchange: A movement is on foot to rid Oconto county of reptiles. That's going to be a big task if some of the squirrel whisky being sold in that county's smaller lumbering towns isn't confiscated.

Wanted by the Masses

Grant County Herald: Occasionally other names than that of Governor Davidson are mentioned for the republican nomination next year, but the present executive, it is said, will have to indefinitely decline a second election in order to get a chance to retire to his general store in Soldier Grove.

Supreme Test for the Boozer

Chicago Record-Herald: One of the San Francisco newspapers offered a prize for the best answer to the question: "When is a man intoxicated?" The money is awarded to a subscriber who wrote: "When he kisses the bartender good night." Only unscrupulous people will be likely to accuse the judges of unfairness in making their decision.

Inviting the Whirlwind

Sheboygan Journal: It is far more effective if you have a grouch to "leak" the editor. When you stop his paper, unless his subscription list is very small indeed, it only makes the editor smile. In fact, if all the people in one block ceased reading a daily newspaper of average circulation, at the same time, the effect would scarcely be noticeable in the newspaper office.

Marconigraphs

Exchange: The world moves right along. A trans-Atlantic wireless telegraph service, under the Marconi system, is being established between a station in Ireland and Cape Breton, Canada, and will be in full operation by Oct. 1. The charges are to be 10 cents a word with the land service, 5 cents extra for commercial business, and half those prices for press reports.

Saturday's Centenary

Evening Wisconsin: Robert Fulton's successful steamboat, the Clermont, made her first trip on the Hudson one hundred years ago today. At 1 o'clock this afternoon every steamboat in the harbor of New York sounded its whistle in celebration of the anniversary.

The telegraphers strike may account for the failure to forward the remarks of Mrs. Egle, president of the Society for the Suppression of Unnecessary Noise.

Whimsical Suggestion to Barbers

Appleton Post: Speaking of union barbers, where should they not, after the manner of other federated trade organizations, insist upon attaching labels to their patrons? "Clinton shaved" pasted on the checks or "Clinton hair cut" dangling from the locks of their customers would seem to be not only highly useful to the unionized barbers but would be more or less ornamental to such persons.

No charge for the suggestion.

The world eats too much meat;

TRUST BUSTING

The most popular man in the hearts of the American people today is President Roosevelt.

Why?

Because he stands for the "square deal" to the common people as well as to the corporations.

He takes the side of the people who need things and against the combinations that would take advantage of their needs, to extort undue gains.

These are days when lots of money is to their profit to combine and manipulate their prices on a living, reasonable basis.

Office of the President
First National Bank Building,
M. J. Carpenter, President,
Chicago, August 26th, 1893.

Richard Valentine, Esq.,
Valentine School of Telegraphy, Janesville, Wis.

Dear Sir: Replying to yours of the 25th Inst. In my judgment, a telegraph operator entering the railway service has better opportunities for advancement, other things being equal, than one who is not an operator. I believe the six months that you so patiently spent with me, teaching me telegraphy, were the most profitable six months I ever spent, as it afforded me opportunities in railroad service for better positions, than I could possibly hope to have gained otherwise.

Very respectfully,
M. J. CARPENTER,
President.

Mr. Carpenter has retired from railroad service since the above was written. By the way, he was a Janeville boy. Come in and see us, or write for our catalogue. If you give us a chance we can do you good.

Altogether about one hundred women attended and at half past five a plene supper was in order. Just before being seated the fifty-five who gathered about the tables sang the Doxology and Mrs. Peirman presented the guest of honor with a handsome garnet brooch. Mrs. McChesney expressed her appreciation in a few graceful remarks.

A Correction.

Owing to a mistake in the Gazette office the advertisement of J. D. & E. G. Owen Friday contained a mistake which the Gazette desired to rectify. The ad was made to say that the Janesville Copper Cable Lighting Rod, of which the Owen are the manufacturers, contains 31 separate wire strands, whereas the number should have been 28. This correction to be made in Judeo to the manufacturers.

PAPER GAS PIPES.

Gas pipes of paper are being made in France. Mauila paper is cut in strips equal to the length of the pipes to be made. These are then placed in a receiver filled with melted asphalt and wrapped around a core of iron until the desired thickness is reached.

After being submitted to strong pressure the paper is coated with sand, cooled, the core withdrawn, and the outer pipe surface covered with a waterproof preparation. It is claimed that these pipes are as good as, and more economical than, metal ones.

CHECK TO MORMONS URGED BY DUBOIS

IDAHO SENATOR WANTS AMENDMENT TO CONSTITUTION.

SPEECH AT AURORA, ILL.

Polygamy and Spreading Power of the Utah Church in Politics Discussed at Chautauqua Meeting.

Aurora, Ill., Aug. 10.—In an address at the chautauqua Sunday afternoon, Senator Dubois, of Idaho, urged his hearers to use their influence with the Illinois representatives in congress to secure an amendment of the constitution under which the federal government will have power to deal with unlawful cohabitation and polygamy.

He devoted considerable time to the Mormon question, which he said required attention in order to stamp out the growing power of Mormonism.

"You cannot convict the Mormons," said he, "of polygamy. To prove polygamy you must prove a second marriage. Plural marriages among the Mormons are performed by high officials of that church in secret places, either in their temples or in foreign countries, and no record is kept of the plural marriages."

How to Check Mormons:

"Unlawful cohabitation can be proven by circumstantial evidence, the supreme court of the United States having defined unlawful cohabitation to be the holding out to the world, by a man, of more than one woman as his wife. A law against unlawful cohabitation, if the enforcement were in the hands of the federal authorities, would put the leaders of the Mormon church in the penitentiary, and this would destroy their political power and destroy polygamy. They exercise their political power in order to protect themselves in their polygamy, and when they found that they had to go to the penitentiary or give up polygamy, they would give up polygamy, and with it their political power would disappear."

Their Political Power:

"The Mormons absolutely control Utah, now politically, and a United States senator, governor or congressman cannot be elected in Idaho or Wyoming against the wishes of the Mormon church. They are a great balance of the power in Oregon, and will soon control the senators in that state. They are beginning to be very powerful in Nevada. Unless checked, they will become the balance of power in the senate of the United States. They have become an object of solicitude to the great political parties, and for the first time in the history of the government this Mormon and polygamist question is becoming a question of partisan politics."

SEES NO LOGICAL REASON FOR WORRY

LESLIE SHAW ON FINANCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL CONDITIONS.

WEALTH SOURCES SAFE

Former Secretary of Treasury, However, Intimates That a Period of Depression Is at Hand.

New York, Aug. 10.—Leslie M. Shaw, former secretary of the treasury, authorized the following interview on the present financial and industrial conditions Sunday:

"Our farms produce more than $6,000,000,000 per annum, and the product is good for an average crop. Our mines yield more than $1,000,000,000 and our forests more than $1,000,000,000, and neither of those sources of wealth has been exhausted. The output of our factories, in other than food products, is $12,000,000,000, and no farms have been extinguished. The railways earn more than $2,000,000,000 and they are all in successful operation. The pay rolls of our factories and railways aggregate approximately $3,000,000,000, and the scale of wages has not been reduced.

"In other words, the real sources of the people's wealth have not yet been affected, and the ability of industrial concerns to pay dividends is not measured by the market price of their stocks. Logical reasons for serious conditions are therefore wanting. Psychological reasons are never wanting.

The Expected Will Happen.

"If I judge correctly, the people will have exactly what they expect. If those who have money in the banks withdraw it and lock it up; if the banks refuse to grant accommodations, and if the consuming public decline to place orders, then we will very soon witness the effects. Let those who think that there is no danger follow each other at regular intervals; bear in mind that this country never yet experienced a period of severe depression that was not traceable to financial or economic agitation or legislation, and usually to both."

"In 1893 the redemption of greenbacks in silver instead of gold was openly advocated; the party in power was under promise to remove the protective tariff from industries, and the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 was championed by prominent members of both parties. The country might have survived any one of these sources of alarm, but it could not survive all three."

Golding Too Fast a Gait.

"At this time no one questions our financial system and the tariff will not be touched for at least 18 months."

"Some check in the speed at which we are going is most desirable, and the checking process has probably begun. It will require a fair measure of confidence and courage to prevent undue retardment in our industries. Capital cannot be forced into activity, but it can be forced out of activity. I have never seen the time when unusual sanity, was more essential to our well being."

CHAPTER VI.

THE MASTER PLAYER TAKES A HAND.

AT this moment a number of red coated soldiers clambered down the path in the rocks, while a squad of cavalry came galloping upon the beach by the road at the other end, and, at once dismounting, advanced up the strand. The seamen in the boat, in obedience to a wave of O'Neill's hand, swept her to the shore, jumped out, and moved toward him, drawing their cutlasses and handling their pistols threateningly—though they were greatly outnumbered they would not give up without a struggle. It was Coventry's opportunity now. "I shall not be able to indulge your desire for the loss of your life," he said, stepping back and picking up his sword, "but I fear that duty imposes upon me the necessity of depriving you of your liberty. I regret the necessity, believe me; 'tis a poor return for your generosity, but I have no option."

"What means you?"

"You are, by your own statements, a rebel against his majesty. It is my duty as commander of this post and a loyal servant of the king to apprehend you. Indeed, I have been especially charged to look out for you, I will promise you and your men the best of treatment, however, and you liberty of action if you will give me your parole."

"I am twice captured then, it seems?"

said the lieutenant, looking at Elizabeth, who had come forward as soon as old Price, who had left her, had sprung to his officer's side. As the girl drew near to him and Major Coventry turned his head to give an order, the Irishman said to her:

"God bless you for that, and goodby."

"A year, give me a year!" He turned and walked away.

"Sir," said Coventry, sheathing his sword and walking down to where Jones stood upon the sand, "we have been much misinformed concerning you. I have had a little interview with your first lieutenant which has convinced me that I was wrong, and this talk has added to my knowledge. As an officer of the king I offer you my hand. Whatever your political or personal affiliations may be, I am glad to recognize in you a gentleman of merit and distinction. I trust to be able to repay the obligation you have laid upon me and my betrothed on some future occasion. We are friends?"

"Sir," replied Jones, "I love a gallant so, I shall remember you. I thank you for your courtesy."

"And I as well," added O'Neill.

"It is not the practice of the American navy," continued Jones, "to force ships of war and bloody battles between loving hearts. Mistress Howard, fare you well. The Ranger, her officers and crew are yours if you wish. If we should be met by another ship with you in command, we strike to you without a blow."

"Elizabeth," said Coventry magnanimously, "can you not bid your friends goodby?"

"I shall ever remember Captain John Paul Jones," said Lady Elizabeth, stepping forward and giving the little captain her hand to kiss, "and I shall never forget Lieutenant O'Neill."
